Puunenes and Myrtles Tied for Third — Dead Heat in Freshman Race

The seventeenth annual Regatta Day will live long in the history of Island sport. Honolulu's best and biggest holiday of the year, making the glorious Fourth the exception for patriotic reasons, touched high water mark today, the Regatta of 1912 being pronounced on every side as the greatest ever held.

Honolulu proper was deserted. The people of the city, meaning the people of every race, color and class, simply walked out of their homes and places of business, and took themselves to the waterfront, to forget domestic and business worries in the enjoyment of the cleanest of clean sports.

The 15,000 or more spectators who lined every point of vantage on the horseshoe of the harbor, from Fort Armstrong to Quarantine Island, who dotted the piers with solid masses of color, and who crowded the balconies of the two boat clubs, and the barges which were anchored off the clubs for their extra accommodation.

THE WINNERS.

saw the invading Alameda oarsmen who made the long voyage from the Coast to match mettle with the local crews, succeed in lifting the championship cup. The Alameda crew is now the six-oared barge champion of the Pacific, and before the coveted title can come back to the Islands Hawaiian oarsmen will have to journey into northern waters, and take it by right of might.

But while the two Honolulu crew and the one from Maui were defeated it was glorious defeat, that for our crew, the Healanis, seemed almost victory. By less than a length did the Alamedas win, and then the Alamedas turned the trick only by smashing the record for the course by a full 14 seconds.

"It was the greatest race I have ever seen," said E. B. Thorning, president of the Alameda Boat Club, and manager of the crew. "The Hawaiian oarsmen are far ahead of anything we have on the Coast, with the exception of our own barge crews, which have held a clear lead in rowing there. We came here believing honestly that we would win the race, but I don't think any of us expected such a battle of boats as was seen today."

From other angles than that of actual competition Regatta Day was an unqualified success. The races were most of them very close, and one dead heat, in the freshman race between the Myrtles and Healanis brought excitement to the fever heat. For the most part the races were well managed, and the committee and officials came in for a large share of credit for the general success. There were no accidents to mar the day up to 10 o'clock.

The regatta was almost a repetition of last year in the win of the Healanis over their old rivals, the Myrtles, in the junior and pair-oar events. But in one-way this was a much cleaner sweep for the Blue and White, for victory over the Myrtles in the senior race more than made up for the defeat.

VICTORIOUS ALAMEDA CREW FINISHING RACE, WITH PLUCKY HEALANIS MAKING GRAND UPHILL FIGHT AND OVERHAULING CALIFORNIANS

Fighting inch by inch, the Healanis crew crept up on the cracks from California until at the finish many spectators thought the honors were almost even, though the officials gave the race to Alameda by just short of a boat length. The photograph above shows the Alamedans leading right up to the finish line, while on the left side of the photograph can be seen the nose of the Healanis barge. The angle at which the photograph was taken shows the Alameda crew further ahead than was really the case. It was a good finish and just after this photo was taken the crews swept across the finish line with the Healanis closer up than appears here.

FRESHMAN RACE TO BE ROWED AGAIN.

The freshman race, after being rowed, was called off, according to announcement of the judges shortly after the race was finished. The race was a dead heat between the Myrtles and Healanis, and the Myrtles claimed to the judges, through Rowing Captain Frank Bechert, that the flag at the outer end of the course, where the Myrtles were required to turn, had drifted out of position, compelling them to turn around the flag and also the spar boy. The Healanis offered to row the race over again, but this was declined, and the judges first called it "no contest," but later it was decided the race would be rowed again next Saturday.

SAILING RACES ON.

Sailing races for sea wrens, pearls and canoes are in progress this afternoon. The races for power sampans were cut off the program at the eleventh hour for lack of entries. As the second edition of the Star-Bulletin goes to press the sailing races are just starting, and full results will be given in Monday's paper.

The Healanis had a monster "Blue" parade during the noon hour. Members massed around the club house, and waving the club colors, did a serpentine of victory.

FREAR'S NAME OMITTED FROM HAWAII'S PLATFORM

Committee Splits 5 to 2, Ogg and Ross Forming a Minority

HILO, Sept. 20.—The Democratic and Republican county conventions were held in this city yesterday and both had special features of interest. The feature of the Republican meeting was most striking, and made more so through the fact that it was a feature of omission, in that all mention of either President Taft and Governor Frear was eliminated from the platform. This was not an accident, but was through the vote of the platform committee, where, by a vote of five to two, this action was decided upon. The only two supporters of the national and Territorial executives were W. G. Ogg of Kau and John Ross of Hakalau.

In the Democratic convention the feature was a practical combination with the Home Rule party, though there was no fusion. In the case of offices where Home Rule has been nominated the Democratic list shows a blank and vice versa. It is expected that this will have the result of bringing a large amount of Home Rule voters to the same way. It is not been for the fact that the fusionists were strong enough to have caused a decided split in the party ranks, it is probable that there would have been some protest on this matter, but everything went quietly and without a hitch of any kind.

DEMOCRATS ENDORSE CANDIDATES

At a caucus held by the Democrats of both districts last night, the following persons were suggested as candidates for the various nominations in the gift of the party: Superintendents, M. C. Pacheco, W. A. McClelland, Lester Petrie, E. H. F. Wolter, J. P. Laukea, John Markham, Jesse Makainai, Sam Hardesty. The latter is named from the Kaimuki district, and it is believed by the leaders that he will have the support of the district Republicans in that precinct who were denied representation on the regular Republican ticket.

For sheriff, W. P. Jarrett; deputy sheriff, C. H. Rose and Manuel Bapista, R. Gilliland, W. R. Holt, J. D. Aapua, Moses A. Kawa.

For treasurer, C. J. McCarthy. For county attorney, J. Lightfoot. For auditor, L. D. Timmons.

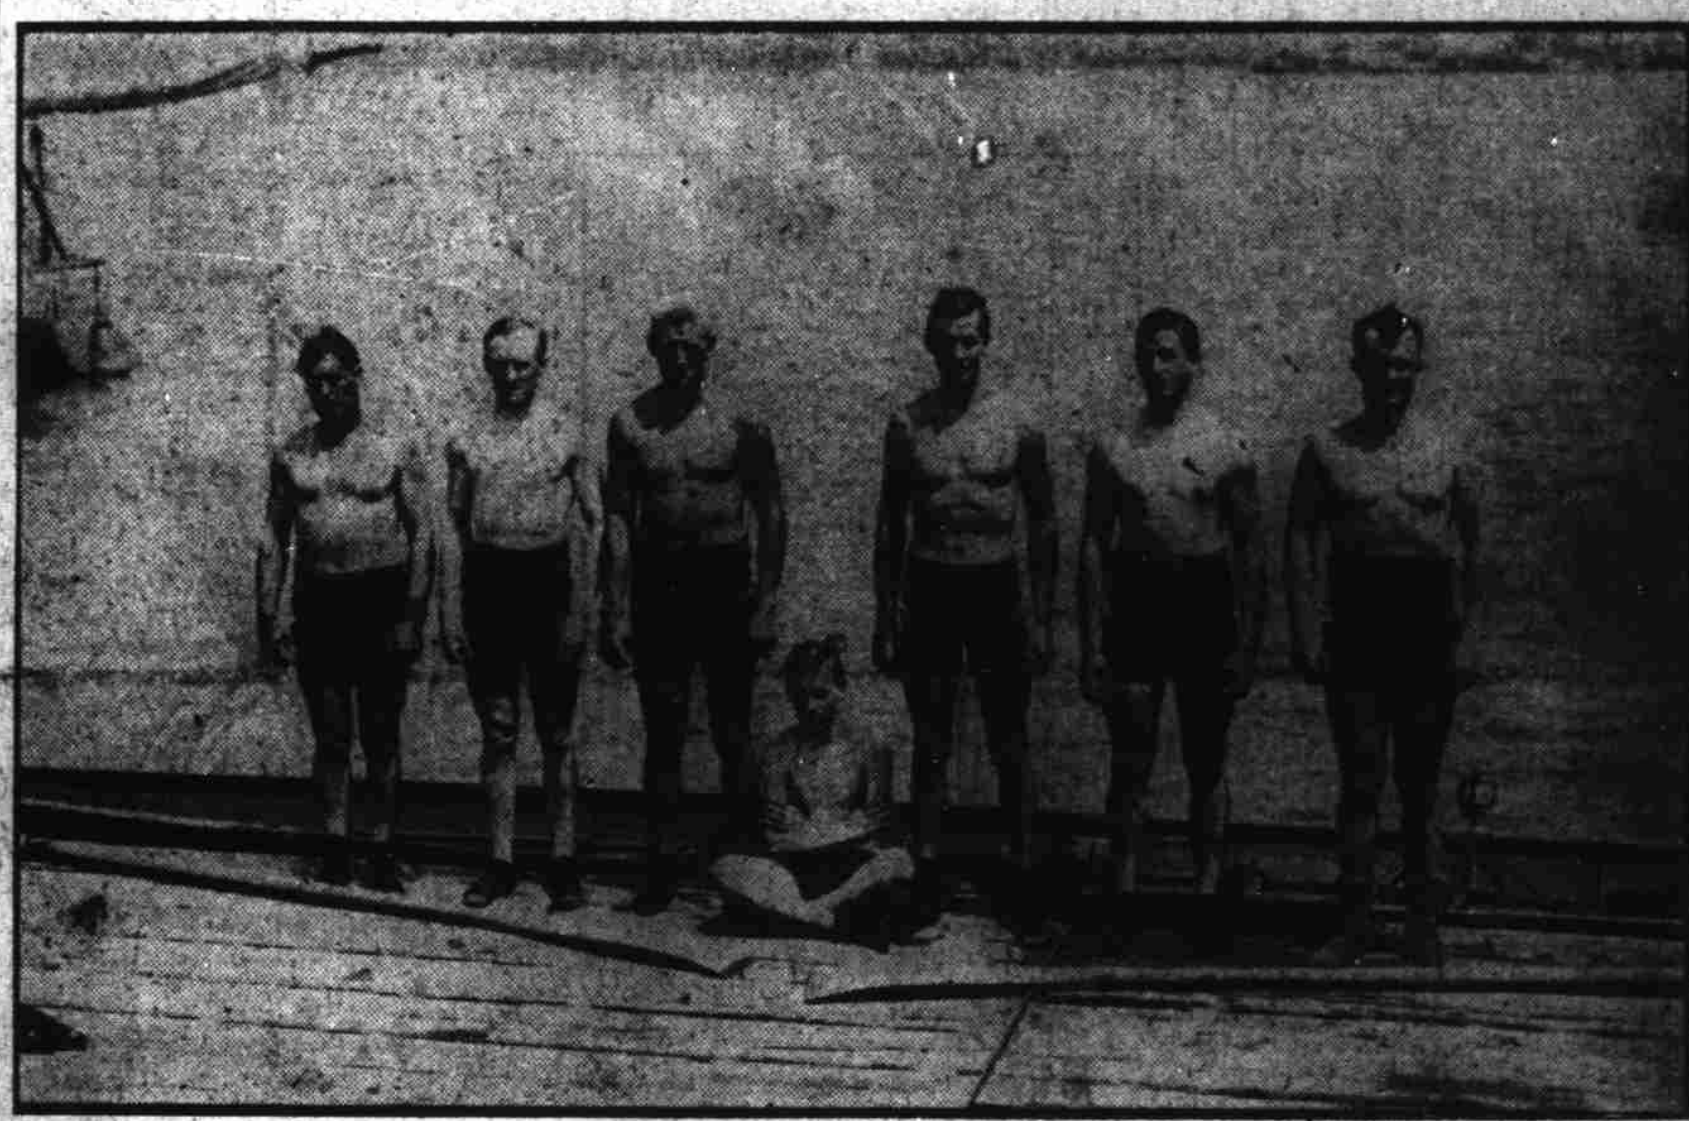

For Representatives, Fourth District—Jesse Uluhi, W. R. Kinslea, Charles Lake, Sol Meheula, J. Lightfoot Jr., Arch Robinson or Geo. K. Kane. For Representatives, Fifth District—

J. S. Kalakiela, E. K. Hanapi, D. Kahaleaahu, Dan Kamahu, E. J. McCandless, J. M. Poepeo.

Naturally, J. J. Fern was endorsed for mayor. The slate presented, it is announced, is a compromise between the Jarretts and the anti-Jarretts.

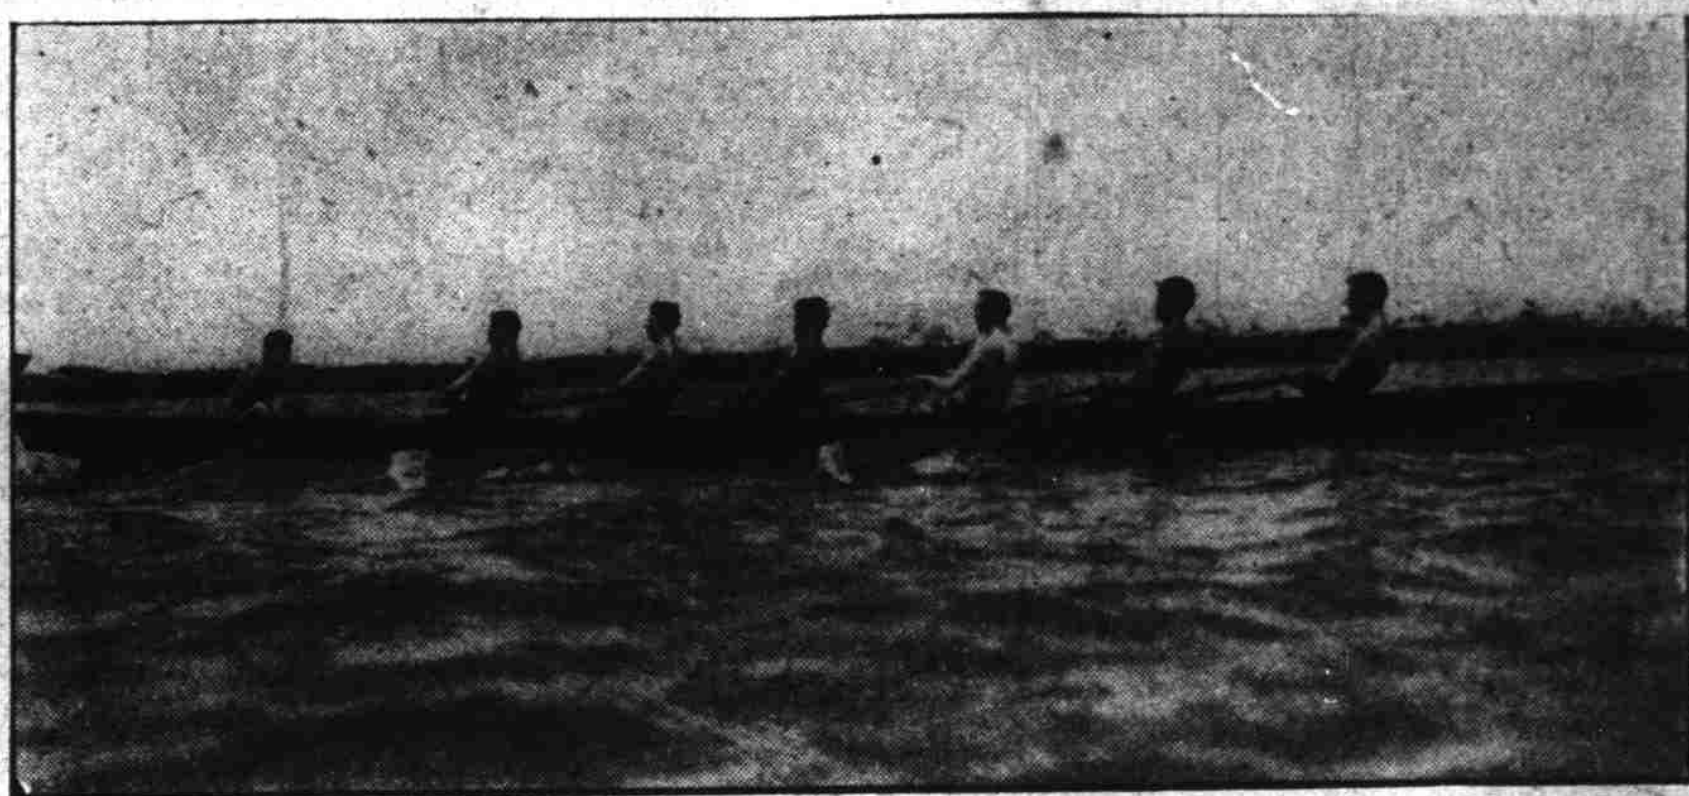

There was a question at one time about naming anybody in opposition to the present county clerk, but one speaker declared David had once said that all good Hawaiians should take orders from their employers as to voting, and that settled it.

The Democrats believe that Colonel McCarthy will give George Smithies a real race. Whether L. D. Timmons will accept the nomination for auditor is said to be a question.

HUSTACE OUT; PLATFORM IS INDEPENDENCE

Republican Convention Results
Determines His Own
Candidacy

Charles Hustace, Jr., has reached a decision and is out for the mayoralty of Honolulu, confirming the report published yesterday by this paper. In announcing his determination in that regard to a Star-Bulletin reporter this morning, Mr. Hustace gave a clear statement of his position with regard to the Republican party, without more than an implied allusion to the candidate of the convention. His position, in a nutshell, is that he should have been the natural and logical candidate this year, both of the party and of the businessmen's combination. Mr. Hustace said:

CASTLES GIVE $30,000 TO PUNAHOU COLLEGE

Money Will Be Used in Building Best Fireproof Dormitory in Country

President Griffiths of Punahou College announced this morning that, through a fresh gift of $30,000 by the Castle Estate, it will be possible to complete Castle Hall as a concrete fire-proof dormitory, making it the best building of its kind in the country and enlarging its capacity 50 per cent.

When the building burned a few months ago, it carried $45,000 insurance. After its destruction the Castle Estate added $10,000 to the $30,000 which had been allotted from the same source for finishing the third floor of the old building. The $10,000 was given for the purpose of paying for plans and incidental work toward the erection of a new building.

President Griffiths said this morning that the new modern fire-proof dormitory would cost $82,851, according to the contractors' figures, and that, including the insurance money, there was $91,000 on hand to do the work.
